

Murder 101

Lesson 2: To Protect and Serve?

1998 - SFPD Officers gun down Sheila Deto, a 17-year old passenger in a car allegedly speeding at the police.

1998 - SFPD Officers gun down executive John Smart, who assaulted them with his car. The cops are awarded medals of valor.

2000 - Bicyclist Chris Robertson is killed by an 18-wheel truck, after being threatened and assaulted by the driver. Assistant District Attorney Murlene Randle said the investigation took three months because the SFPD unit that initially went to the scene did not properly interview witnesses or gather evidence.
